Introducing “Daisy”, Brian O’Neal’s sophomore solo project, simply characterized as “Music Therapy”.

Daisy is an all-embracing collection of songs from the heart and soul of Brian O’Neal which pays tribute to his late grandmother Daisy O’Neal, who both influenced and nurtured his musical endeavors. It expresses a multifaceted array of compilations, polished flavor and much more. On it he exploits his versatility with an explosive composition called “Daisy” the title track, as well as the melodic sound of the track “No Words Necessary” which symphonically takes you on a magical journey of self expression without words. The song titled “Mesmerized” is one of his favorite musical productions, which sustains an array of positive energies from all who embark upon it. Recorded at Masterpiece and Beehive studios, performed and produced by Brian and a select few of Detroit’s notable musicians, it showcases his talents, versatility and energy as a composer, producer and performer.

No wonder he has produced over seven other projects for recording artists including Maverick Records - UNV, and KEM.

Along with being a solo artist, Brian O’Neal is currently Assistant Musical Director and Keyboardist for Universal Motown Recording Artist, KEM and owner of BCO Media, Inc.

The current singles from his third cd scheduled to be released early 2010 are “Room To Breathe” and “Dreams In Color”. The current singles from Daisy are “Mesmerized” and “No Words Necessary”. The current single from Mood Swings is “Holland Residence”.

Personal Biography

BRIAN O'NEAL

{ P r o d u c e r • C o m p o s e r } K e y b o a r d i s t

An artist who has flourished in the comfort of Jazz, Top 40s, R&B, and Pop; pianist Brian O'Neal oozes with the versatility of a uniquely upbeat, smooth style that compliments today's "New Jazz." He brings an exciting and uninhibited sound to the world of jazz, which makes it creatively challenging for many to classify his music. O'Neal attracts an eager following and commands the respect of his listeners domestically abroad. "I don't listen to the radio often out of respect for my craft. I don't want to taint my vision of music with that of which you've heard every day. By shutting myself out of the listening audience, I'm not apt to emulate any sound you've ever heard before." O'Neal says to WFSK 88.1FM's DJ, Sharon Kay.

O'Neal was born July 5, 1965, in Detroit, and first discovered his passion for music at the age of six, when he took his first drum lesson. Although Brian (known to his friends as "Bean") learned to play many instruments, including the saxophone, bass, and trombone; he aspired to be a professional drummer, that was until his junior year in high school, after being asked by his band teacher to fill in to play the piano for the band's performance. Brian instantly became enthralled with the idea of mastering such a magnificent and gentle instrument. At that time his grandmother "Daisy O'Neal" began to notice how comfortable and excited he was about playing, and purchased his first piano. O'Neal's passion for the piano increased as he experimented with various melodies and chords; causing his skill to mature rapidly. As a self-taught Pianist, he later received a full Piano Music scholarship to Alcorn State University.

Brian's talents then soared into the world of jingles, working with companies such as the McDonald's Corporation. His love for movies and children inspired him to compose film scores for youthful audiences around the country. As he explored his musical gifts, he began touring with a several Rock and Top 40 Bands, Atlanta based jazz band "Take Notes" and Contemporary Jazz/R&B artist, where he serves as assistant music director. O'Neal's love for music led him to share his talent by mentor other aspiring artist such as Universal/Motown recording artist Kem, who later became a national Jazz/R&B sensation.

O'Neal has shared the stage with many great musicians over the past two decades; including Marion Meadows, Will Downing, Morris Day and the Time, India Arie, Ledisi, Fantasia, Angela Bofill, Stevie Wonder, Frankie Beverly and Maze, Alex Bugnon, George Duke, Pieces of a Dream, Chaka Kahn, Najee, Kindred Family Soul, and Jeff Lorber. He has composed and produced music for several artist and poets abroad; including UNV, Kathy Avalon, Kem, Eddie Oliver and a host of other up and coming talents alike.

Several of O'Neal's accolades include being nominated for Detroit Music Awards "Most Outstanding Composition", his song Mesmerized won best song on OurStage, four songs were selected for the National Weather Channel, and he has hailed the #1 spot on MySpace charts for several months.

O'Neal's lifetime musical influences has been Herbie Hancock, Pat Matheny, Prince and Stevie Wonder. These legendary artist helped shape his desire to pursue a career as a professional musician. As a writer, producer, composer and performer; O'Neal has a gentle and natural approach to creating musical safe havens for his listeners. Brian O'Neal is truly a talented and humble musician. He captures your inner desires with melodic rhythms and teases your emotions with the vibrations of each instrument.
